

MARKET FLOODED WITH MACKEREL

SEINING FLEET LANDED OVER
700,000 POUNDS OF FISH
TO SPLIT.

Local splitters got all the mackerel they desired this morning, when one after another of the seining fleet began to pull into the harbor with fares running from 15,000 pounds up to 80,000 pounds. Many of the boats, unable to dispose of their catches at Boston, came here and added to the glut already in the harbor. Consequently some had a tough time finding buyers. They are all big fish and split well for salting. Two off-shore flounder draggers made port yesterday afternoon with small fares of haddock.

Three gill netters found fishing fair again yesterday, bringing in 4500 pounds of fish.

GOOD MACKEREL FARES CONTINUE

SPLITTERS RECEIVED SOME NICE TRIPS AGAIN THIS MORNING.

Splitters received some nice fares of fresh mackerel again this morning, although the catches ran somewhat smaller than they have been the past few days. The fish were of good size, however, and quite firm. One dragger, the Gertrude Parker came down from Boston for the General Seafoods corporation with 50,000 haddock to fillet. Gill netters brought in 4000 pounds of cod yesterday afternoon, and overland receipts of fresh fish from Boston amounted to around 150,000 pounds.
